CATECHESIS IN THE DOMESTIC CHURCH

Our Lady of Mount Carmel & the Brown Scapular

Sarah Bofferding, Director of Catechesis

This week, on July 16th, the church celebrates the feast of Our Lady of Mount Carmel. This feast commemorates the apparition of Mary to a Carmelite Friar, St. Simon Stock, in 1251. In this apparition, she gave Simon the Brown Scapular with the promise that "Whosoever dies clothed with this habit shall be preserved from eternal fire. It is the badge of salvation, a shield in time of danger, and a pledge of special peace and protection."

Today, this part of the Carmelite habit has been simplified into two small squares of brown wool that all people can wear as a devotion to Our Lady, a reminder of Her maternal love and care for us, Her children. Here, under the mantle of Mary, we are brought into a share in that perfect communion she shares with Our Lord and taught how to live in this intimacy with Christ!

To celebrate this feast: bring a scapular to a priest and have them enroll you, pray a rosary, work in a garden (Carmel means "garden"), or eat something with caramel (no actual connection here other than the same pronunciation!)

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Alfred Schwalbe, Director of Operations & Stewardship

Our parish is immensely blessed with talented parishioners. Many step up to pull off big events like the Fall Festival and Block Party, but I write to the parish in appeal for assistance in our day to day areas of need.

We are actively seeking volunteers to assist with the following: grounds and building cleaning and maintenance; Solemnity & Sunday Mass livestream production; and chairperson for the annual Fall Festival.

Livestream production for Solemnities and Sunday Masses is easy to do from an iPad through our Sony system. It involves anticipating movements in the Mass, and selecting the appropriate shot to help viewers feel a part of the Mass. If you're interested, please contact me at aschwalbe@stsaa.org

The Fall Festival takes many hands to be a successful event for our parish, but the chairperson is key in leading the committee. This role includes leading committee meetings, recruiting volunteers, and coordinating efforts with the Parish Office. If you're interested in serving the parish in a big way, call the office to speak with Fr. Luke Meyer or myself!

And finally, we need help maintaining our building! If you can give some time to clean, pull weeds, vacuum floors, or really anything else, please see the graphic below to contact our Property Manager Tyler Eastvold!

McCHOIR'S MUSIC CORNER

Musical Emphasis of Syllables

Patrick McGuire, Director of Music

When a composer begins writing music involving voices, and especially when setting something for a congregation to sing at church, one must be diligent of syllabic emphasis. As you read this, you naturally emphasize the proper syllables and make sense of the words as you go along, even silently! It would BE strange if you were TO read a secTION of text and emPHASized syllABLEs that we norMALLY do not emphasize. In fact, after reading that last sentence, I'm sure you feel a little disoriented! This is why syllabic emphasis matters in musical composition: if we do not respect the linguistic rules of our speech, at least to some degree, it will feel 'clunky' as people try to sing it, and though the musical notes themselves may not be difficult, it will be challenging for all of us to sing together.

Especially with regard to the psalms and antiphons we chant each week, I so appreciate how intentional Adam Bartlett and Fr. Columba Kelly (the two primary composers of music for Mass in our Source & Summit Missals) are in maintaining smart musical emphasis of our natural speech patterns. This really jumped out to me in today's responsorial psalm, where the text is very nicely carried by a smart melody that follows our natural inclination of syllabic emphasis: "The seed that falls on good ground will yield a fruitful harvest." All of the 'more important' syllables receive two notes, while the others receive one, which creates a natural flow to the music and text working together as one.
