CATECHESIS IN THE DOMESTIC CHURCH

Sarah Bofferding, Director of Catechesis

For the last few months, this column has been focused on Catechesis in the Parish, sharing and encouraging participation in our many programs – RE, Ydisciple, Catechesis of the Good Shepherd, and sacramental preparation. Now I want to take the opportunity to turn our focus back to the most important place of catechesis: the family (Ecclesia domestica or Domestic Church).

“The family is, so to speak, the domestic church. In it parents should, by their word and example, be the first preachers of the faith to their children” (Lumen Gentium 11). All of our programming has the aim of assisting and encouraging families in this sacred mission!

I share with you an encouragement from the Catechism on this topic that I will continue to write about in this column over the next year: “It is here that the father of the family, the mother, children, and all members of the family exercise the priesthood of the baptized in a privileged way ‘by the reception of the sacraments, prayer and thanksgiving, the witness of a holy life, and self-denial and active charity.’”

Thus the home is the first school of Christian life and ‘a school for human enrichment.’ Here one learns endurance and the joy of work, fraternal love, generous - even repeated - forgiveness, and above all divine worship in prayer and the offering of one's life.” (CCC 1657)

McCHOIR'S MUSIC CORNER

Good Enough for the President!

Patrick McGuire, Director of Music

A friend/fellow parishioner gifted me a book titled, "Then Sings My Soul: 150 of the World's Greatest Hymn Stories." It has been fun to flip through the book and read these short stories about the hymns we sing each week.

I read an interesting story about our opening hymn today, "Guide Me, O Thou Great Redeemer." From the unlikely mind of a guy with two first names, William Williams penned this hymn in 1745, originally titled, "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah." (Most have since adapted the more suitable title of 'Redeemer' in common use.)

Williams was a popular and well-traveled preacher—he traveled over 95,000 miles and would often speak to crowds of 10,000 or more as an itinerant preacher. He wrote over 800 hymns in total, and the one we used today found its way into a bit of American history: As President James Garfield was dying, he went through a brief period of feeling stronger despite his bullet wound. He was sat up near a window, and his wife began to sing "Guide Me, O thou Great Redeemer..." Garfield began to cry and said to his doctor, "Glorious, bliss, isn't it?"
