McCHOIR'S MUSIC CORNER

How the Music Fits the Readings

Patrick McGuire, Director of Music

We are in the final month of the liturgical year!

The readings have started to turn towards the things of end times and eternal life in heaven. As the liturgical year ends, we look to what is ahead, and today's Gospel serves as a fitting example: "stay awake, for you know neither the day nor the hour." (Mt 25: 13)

It is for this reason that we sing "Rejoice, Rejoice, Believers" for our processional hymn today. This hymn is a great fit for the end of Ordinary Time, and even into Advent as well! It also happens to be a direct reference to today's gospel reading, addressing the parable of the virgins with their lamps, awaiting the bridegroom.

Do you ever study a hymn text to see what scripture it is referencing, paraphrasing, or even directly quoting? It is an 'occupational hazard' for me at this point, but one I have come to enjoy quite a bit! If you have never looked for the relationship between scripture reading and song at Mass, come join me in the fun!!
